KEEPING UP WITH CHANGING TECHNOLOGY:
YOUR ETHICAL DUTY TO BE TECHNOLOGICALLY COMPETENT

Technology skills are essential to every legal professional. Without that skill, a legal professional will soon be obsolete in the market. What does it mean to be “Technologically Competent” and how can we prepare to meet these new requirements? This webinar will explore the resources available to properly teach you how to not only survive in the current market, but thrive in the future market.

Presenter, Douglas Lusk, J.D., is the founder and chief executive officer of the National Society for Legal Technology (NSLT). Doug serves as an adjunct law professor at Fullerton College, Daemen College, and Mt. San Antonio College. He is passionate about promoting the need for ongoing legal technology education in the legal industry. Both inside and outside of the classroom, he works to help connect paralegals and attorneys with legal technology education resources.
